

Written and composed by Adam and Jessica Kelly

A dream in a dream somewhere

I see the trees in the distance
Swaying back and forth
I see the flowers bathing
Under the crimson sunset
Oh, how I wish I could be one of those trees or flowers
Sometimes I wish I were a dream in a dream somewhere

I hear the rivers flowing
Down from the melting snow
I feel the wind a blowing
Softly across my lips
Oh, how I wish I were a river in motion with the wind
Sometimes I wish I were a dream in a dream somewhere

I hear the angels singing
Nothing I've heard before
I see the fairies dancing
Flying across the floor
Oh, how I wish I could sing angel songs and dance away
Sometimes I wish I were a dream in a dream somewhere
