

Written and composed by Adam and Jessica Kelly

I have been

I have been a river
On it's way to the sea
I have been a country
Where the slave is free
I have been a rainfall
For a soul on fire
I have seen creation
As it fills desire

Where have I gone
If I'm back to where I first began
I'm eager to learn why return

I have been a phantom
In the way of the mean
I have been the freedom
That is found when you scream
I have been the flower
On the day when it blooms
I have been the thunder
Pushing men to their tombs
